Curriculum vitae

Albrecht Broemme has been President of the Technische Hilfswerk (THW - Federal Agency for Technical Relief) since May 2006. Beforehand, as State Fire Director of the Berlin Fire Brigade, he was in charge of over 3,900 professional firefighters as well as 2,400 members of the voluntary and youth fire brigades. The 54-year-old certified electrical engineer joined the Berlin fire brigade in 1977 as a fire intern. Previously he had already been a volunteer at the Technische Hilfswerk for six years and at the voluntary fire brigade in his home town of Darmstadt.
