

Horst Kessler
Bundesdruckerei

Panel Session:

“European Border Control and Protection”

Wednesday, January 30th, 14:30-16:30

Curriculum vitae

Horst Kessler joined Bundesdruckerei in 2001 and helped to build up the new business segment Border Management Systems. He is responsible for the launch of several generations of innovative test and control systems for automated checking of documents. Previously he was head of research in an internet communication company where he developed solutions and devices for new internet applications. Prior to this he was responsible for the development and production of overhead and video projectors. Horst Kessler started his career in the office communications sector of Siemens AG, following his engineering degree (FH Munich).